

JCLL BOD Duties Bylaw 2024-2025:

Being a board member requires a great deal of additional time and effort and is not to be used just as a means for a voting in BOD meetings. Each board member must attend at least eight (8) meetings during the fiscal year beginning on November 3rd. In a case of work or a family emergency, this will not count towards an absence if the President is notified prior to the meeting. If a board member fails to attend the number of required meetings, they can be removed from the board with a 2/3 vote of current board members.

Each board member must participate in board-related league events three (3) nights and one (1) weekend day per month during both the fall and spring seasons. These events include, but are not limited to:

- Opening, closing, and/or helping in the concession stand
- Assisting with field work
- Umpiring games
- Overseeing games (i.e. directors observing games in person)
- Attending fundraising events

Members who work high school games will not have that time counted towards their JCLL board duties.

Each board member is expected to participate in league-wide fundraising activities, clean-up days at the beginning and end of the season, league-hosted tournaments, and in-person registration and evaluations. An exception will be granted to those already participating in a league related activity scheduled on the same day.

Failure to meet a board member's minimum requirements throughout the season will make the person ineligible to be a board member the following year.
